

Two Wychwood Villages

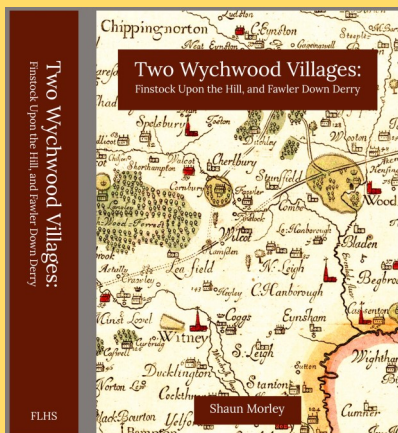

Finstock Upon the Hill, and Fawler Down Derry

An exciting new book on the history of Finstock and Fawler has been produced by Finstock Local History Society. It is the product of many years' work and tells the extraordinary story of life in these two seemingly ordinary villages. From Pre-history to Roman, Medieval to Victorian, and through to the first full account of Ramsden Heath Military Camp, there are numerous interesting aspects of rural life. Painstakingly researched and fully referenced Two Wychwood Villages is a must for those interested in the Wychwood area, the history of the local area, or rural life through time in general.

Finstock and Fawler are very close neighbours but have had very different histories that could have taken a very different path in the nineteenth century had the Fawler Iron Mines been commercially successful.

Fully illustrated with numerous colour images, it is c.75,000 words and 350 pages - a significant book.

Two Wychwood Villages is available on advance subscription of £30. Advance purchasers will have their names printed in the book in a list of subscribers and be invited to an exclusive book launch. Publication will take place between autumn 2019 and spring 2020.
